COMMUNICATORS

CARING LOCALLY. THRIVING GLOBALLY.

“Being a communicator is about expressing yourself using different modes beyond just words. You strive to help others and yourself to comprehend information and ideas thoroughly.”

-Candy C., G.9

COMMUNICATORS

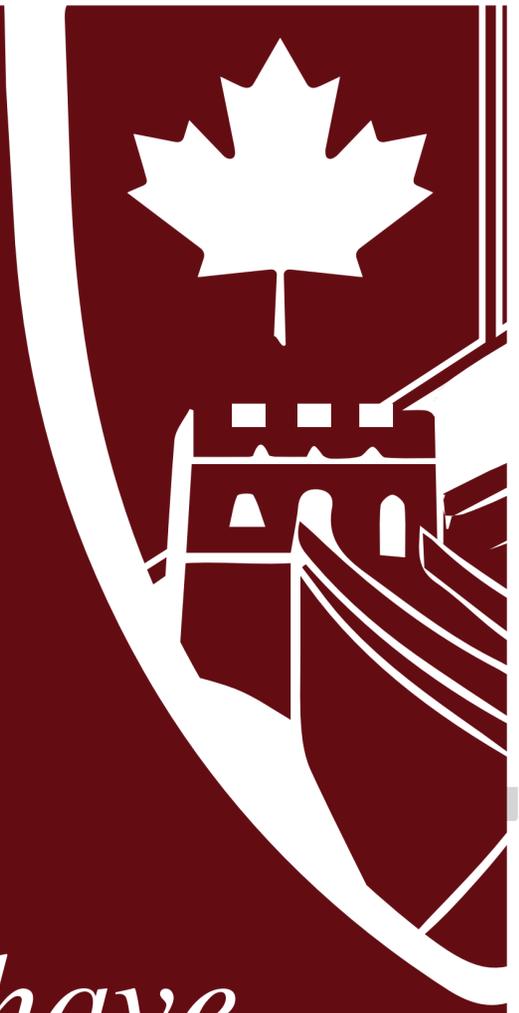

CARING LOCALLY. THRIVING GLOBALLY.

“Being a communicator isn’t only about talking or writing. It’s also about listening and considering other people’s perspectives. It’s important to be respectful and polite when you are communicating with other people, whether you are speaking or writing.”

-Kate Owen,
PYP EAL Team Lead
& G.5 EAL Teacher

"Great communicators have the ability to confidently express their ideas while fully understand opinions from others. They convey information and knowledge in an effective manner."

-Lauren Z., G.12

“Technology allows students to communicate via media – photos, videos, sounds, and more. This media represents a generation of students to whom a written book report is merely level one of a ladder they will climb. These students are powerful and will be heard more clearly than any generation before them.”

-James Simpson,
Technology Integration Specialist

“To me, being a communicator is an important part of belonging to the ISNS community. Effective communication between faculty, teachers, students, parents and all ISNS members helps create a positive learning environment and fosters connection between all members of our wonderful ISNS family. Communication helps build school spirit and allows all of us Phoenixes to inspire the fire!”

-Lauren Dorsey, G.3
Team Lead and Homeroom Teacher

“To effectively communicate, we must realize that we are all different in the way we perceive the world and use this understanding as a guide to our communication with others.”

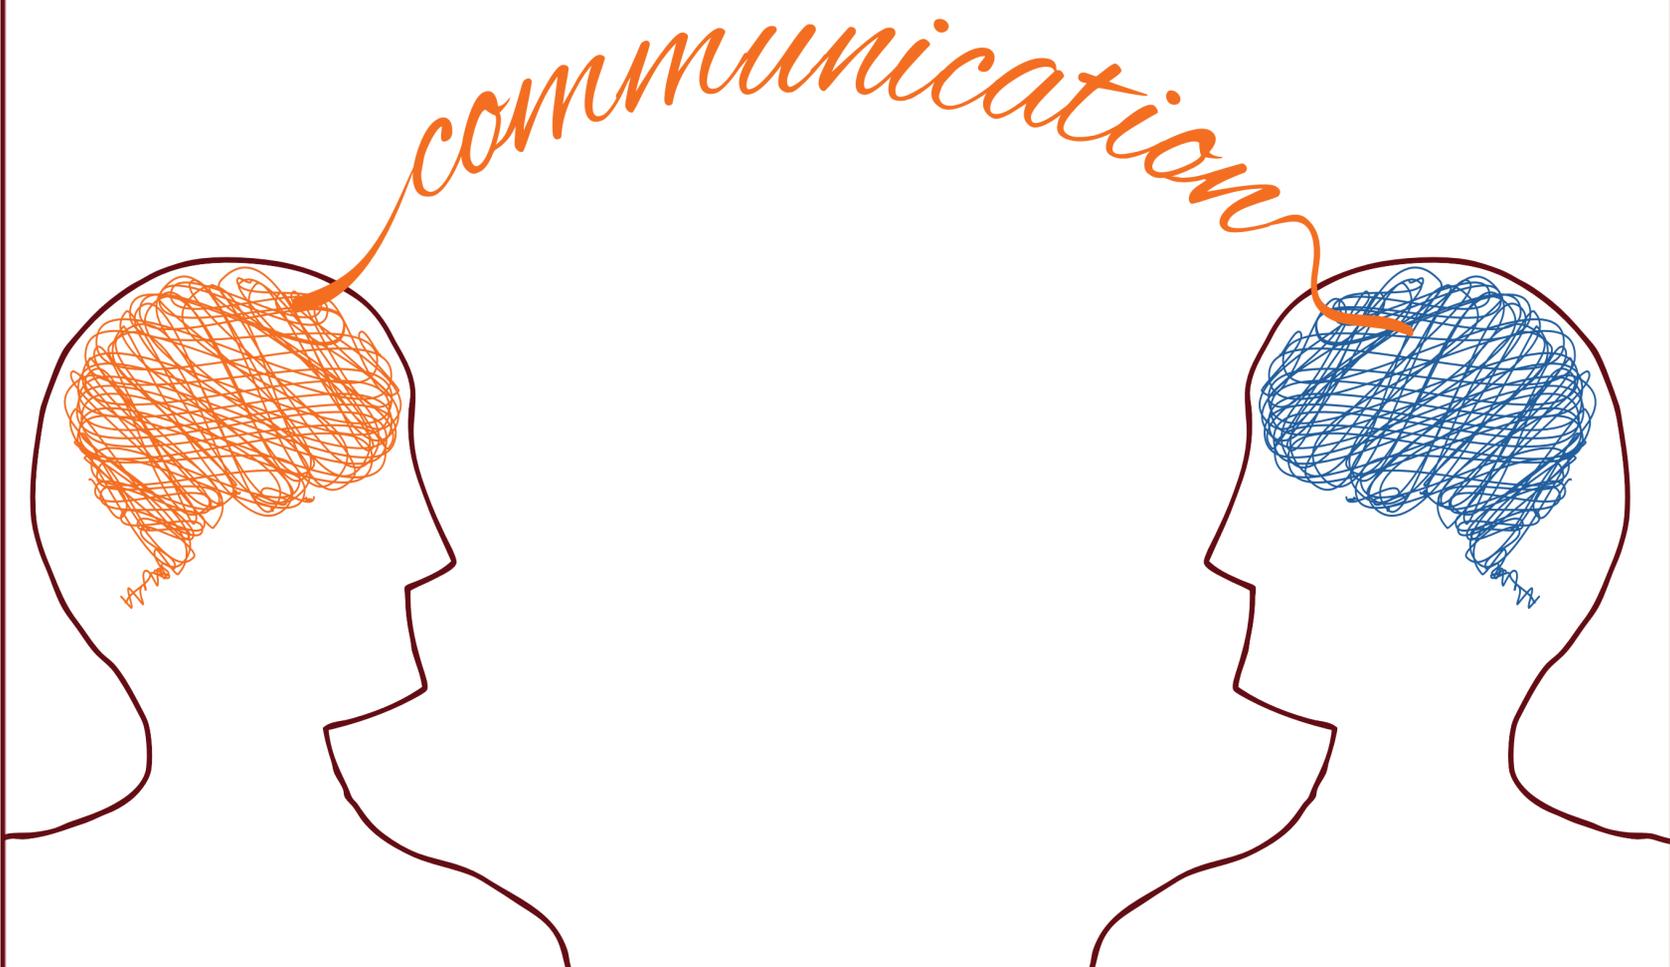

— Anthony Robbins

“Communicator means talking to each other to figure something out and to solve problems.”

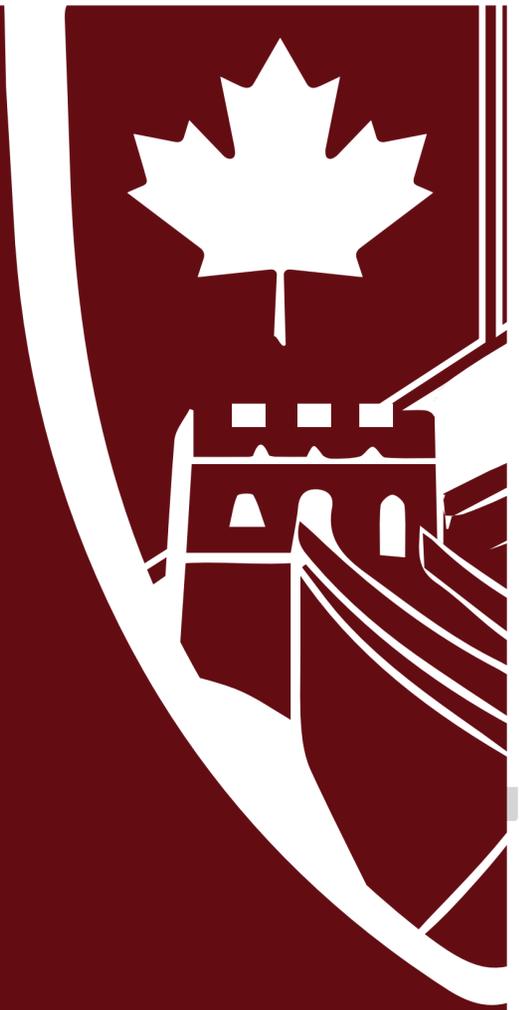

-Dafna B., G3
